Vivi is a life sharing app that puts connection first. It fosters a safe community for individuals from diverse background to share their experiences together for a week.

With five connection categories including Knowledge, Perspective, Excitement, Travel, and People, users can tailor their interactions to suit their interests. Furthermore, Vivi's inclusivity encompasses all individuals, regardless of their gender or relationship status, promoting equitable and environmentally conscious travel.

Vivi is committed to user safety and employs advanced tools like background checks and a rating system, making it a trustworthy platform. Its internal monetary system streamlines exchanges, while categorising experiences provides ample opportunities to explore new possibilities.

The design language of Vivi is a testament to its sophistication, featuring a refined and enigmatic colour palette, asymmetrical layouts, and a futuristic font family that exudes elegance.
